

Durlston House

Wiltshire | Residential

About this home

Durlston House is a residential service that provides support for adults aged 21-35 with learning disabilities, autism spectrum conditions and behaviours that may challenge. The service aims to create a person centred planning approach and help individuals live as independently as possible in a warm and welcoming environment.

Individuals are supported in making plans so they have control over their lives and increased independence skills, whilst focusing on a PBS approach to reduce everyday anxieties. Staff will support people to take part in a range of activities that can enrich their everyday lives and involve them within the wider community. Staff are available 24 hours a day including waking night staff when required.

What we offer

Durlston House has 5 individual bedrooms with attached bathrooms so individuals can enjoy their own space. People can also socialise in the spacious conservatory and other communal areas including a kitchen and lounge area.

Additional features include a purpose built holistic sensory garden where various social activities usually take place.

Durlston House is in the perfect location, close to the local shops and restaurants so individuals can easily go to the local town. There are great areas for walking, bike riding and visiting the local parks so people can enjoy the outdoors when they wish.

Lifestyle

At Durlston House people will be supported to access a wide range of activities in order to build on skills and confidence. Some examples of leisure activities include gardening, sensory activities, horse riding, discos, cookery and shopping.

People will also be assisted in the development of important life skills such as meal preparation, budgeting and finance, self-care and domestic tasks with a view to developing independent living.

Staff will help individuals identify and maintain any part time jobs, volunteering and/or education placements which can greatly help with confidence and independence.
