About this home

Surrounded by open fields yet very close to Uttoxeter town centre, Sandylee House can accommodate up to seven adults and enables them to live a peaceful life but also to regain their confidence by getting out in the local community. It provides specialist residential support for adults with moderate learning disabilities, epilepsy and sight impairment.

Inside the home, there are many facilities to keep people supported and entertained throughout the day, including a games room, a beautiful conservatory with table football and a hobbies room.

We offer a peaceful home near the countryside with the opportunity to get involved in the busy lifestyle of the local market town, Uttoxeter.

Life at the home

Sandylee is a warm and friendly home where everyone gets on well.

Sandylee is a busy environment with lots of activity, and people enjoy spending time together in the communal areas, as well as quieter alone time in their own bedrooms. The gentlemen here are sociable and enjoy chatting.

With great transport links, people are regularly taken out and about on fun and exciting day trips – including anything from ten-pin bowling, horse riding, trips to the cinema, cycling, seaside holidays or simply visits to the local leisure centre.

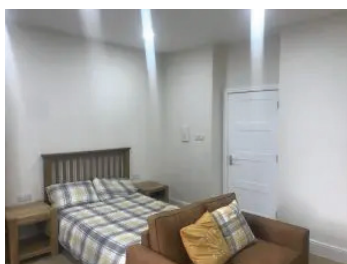

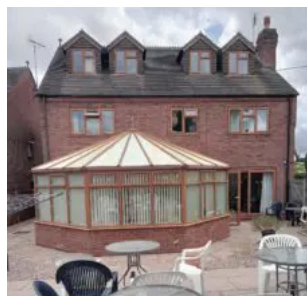

What we offer

These homes can hold up to seven gentlemen. Five of the flats have en-suite bathrooms, while two flats share a bathroom. The home has a beautiful outdoor area to be enjoyed in the summer and a conservatory suitable for all weather.
