What makes this home unique:

Addington Road is a warm and welcoming home for men with autism, learning disabilities and behaviours that may challenge. Support is person-centred and shaped around each person's needs, choices and goals, helping them build confidence, independence and well-being.

The home has four self-contained flats under one roof, offering privacy while still being part of a small, friendly community. Each flat has an open-plan kitchen, dining and living area, a separate bedroom and a private bathroom. Ground floor flats open onto private outdoor balconies, while first floor flats have an extra room that can be used as a quiet space, hobby room or sensory area.

People we support also enjoy the shared garden, summer BBQ's, growing vegetables and day trips to nearby villages.

Location:

Addington Road is set in a peaceful village location close to Rushden Lakes, offering a calm and welcoming environment while still being well connected. With easy access to public transport and local amenities, including a convenient shop right next door, the people we support can enjoy both independence and easy access to all they need.

The nearby Rushden Lakes development provides a variety of shops, cafés, and restaurants, giving plenty of opportunities for social outings, leisure activities, and meeting friends and family.
