What makes this home unique:

Bradwell House is a warm and welcoming home where the people we support enjoy spending time together and have built positive relationships. The supportive team encourages everyone to take part in everyday activities, from completing tasks and enjoying film evenings to helping prepare the evening meal.

Each week, an aromatherapist visits to offer relaxing foot massages, a much-loved activity that everyone looks forward to. The home also has two large gardens, where people can enjoy outdoor activities, spend time with others or find a peaceful spot to relax independently. They can also enjoy the swings and trampoline, unwind in the quiet cabin or make use of the sensory room.

Location:

Bradwell House is set in a quiet, peaceful area, close to a friendly local pub and a convenient shop. There are plenty of nearby places for people to explore, including the local church, a farm where people can see a variety of animals, and Brockhill Country Park.

Hythe Canal and the beach are also within easy reach, offering more opportunities for enjoyable days out. A bus stops directly outside the home, making it easy for people to visit nearby towns. The team also supports people to attend a day centre, where they can enjoy music therapy, arts and crafts, and opportunities to socialise.
