Home Manager Supported living in Worthing, West Sussex

About Christopher

Christopher joined Achieve together in February 2026, bringing more than a decade of experience in health and social care. Since starting his career in 2014, he has supported autistic people, people with learning disabilities and behaviours that may challenge.

As Home Manager at this supported living home in Worthing, Christopher is passionate about empowering the people we support to influence how their home is run and decorated. He also supports people to explore meaningful volunteering and paid employment opportunities.

Looking ahead, Christopher hopes to continue developing professionally by completing a Level 7 Diploma in Health and Social Care or in Strategic Management.

"I remain calm and focused when the people we support experience challenging situations or need medical support. I take time to understand what each person is communicating, listen to their needs and work with them to find the right way forward."

Christopher's successes

Christopher supported a person to move into their own home closer to their family after spending 22 years in a secure hospital setting.

He took time to listen to their thoughts, feelings and preferences, ensuring their voice shaped every stage of the transition. Working closely with the person, their family and other professionals, Christopher helped plan consistent, personalised support.

He also supported them to create a safe and welcoming environment that reflected their choices, from their bedroom to shared spaces such as the lounge and kitchen, helping them feel comfortable, settled and at home.
